

How to Make a Great Dating Site Profile

Contributed by admin
Tuesday, 04 July 2006

When you browse through online dating site profiles you come across many useless and unappealing profiles. If you have decided to find yourself an ideal partner through online dating sites then making a great profile is one of the first steps to achieve that. Getting responses mainly depends on how attractive your profile is. Keep reading on to learn how to make a great dating profile to attract prospective partners. First of all keep in mind that people don't want to read long paragraphs explaining what you like and dislike. So instead of writing stories and wasting space, just be to-the-point and list a few of your interests and hobbies. Don't use ordinary and commonplace words or phrases that hundreds of other people might also have written on their profiles. Honestly tell people about your personality and the kind of person you would like to have as a partner.

Before making a profile of your own, take some time to view some online profiles on different sites. Make mental notes of what you liked and didn't like about those profiles. Remember that short profiles are the first ones to catch anyone's attention. Give your profile a humorous touch and try to be as honest and truthful about your views on life and relationships as you can. Try to avoid spelling and grammar mistakes as much as you can. Double check or preview what you have written in your profile and see it critically. View it from another person's viewpoint and try to catch some shortcomings or mistakes. Correct them and preview it again. Repeat the process until you are completely satisfied with the outlook of your profile and all the things associated with it. While uploading photos choose the best ones you have. Do not upload showy or pompous photos. Don't copy other people's styles and words. Be original and imaginative while making the profile. If you're expressive in real life then put all your thoughts together and write them on your profile. The more truthful you are about yourself, the better. Most of the people out there are looking for serious relationships and dates and therefore they want some serious people to contact them who are not there just for fun. Express your desires frankly in your profile. Just follow these tips and see how people respond to a great profile like yours on any dating site!